SECTION A (READING SKILLS)- 20 MARKS

1.	Read the following text.	10 Marks
(1)	Veteran Industrialist Ratan Tata, known for transforming Tata group into Conglomerate through strategic acquisitions and business expansions, passed away at 86. His tenure saw the growth and the modernization of the group, maintaining its social values.
(2)	Born to Naval Tata and Sonoo Tata on December 28, 1937, Tata and his younger brother were brought up by their grandmother Navajbai R Tata. (after their parents got divorce in 1940) in a baroque manor called Tata Palace in Downtown Bombay .( now Mumbai)
(3)	Ratan Tata went to Cornell University in United States where he studied Architecture and Structural Engineering. He travelled the country and was so charmed by the West Coast Life style that he was ready to settle down in Los Angeles. But when Lady Navajbi's health deteriorated, Tata was compelled to return back to India in 1962
(4)	Tata was offered a Job at Tata Plant at Jamshedpur and he worked at the shop floor and worked as an apprentice. He was nurtured and industrially groomed by Sir JRD Tata. In 1981 he was elevated as chairman of Tata Industries when Sir JRD Tata Stepped down. Tata had to face apprehensions within the group itself to prove his acumen, he was distantly related to Sir JRD Tata and that irked a lot of relatives as Sir JRD hated cronyism
(5)	During his tenure, the group's revenues grew manifold. Tata was the chairman of major Tata companies. Tata was a famous and trustworthy Indian Brand which was making salt to satellites and they acquired famous brands like Tetley, Range-Rover, Jaguar and many like them. Tata Consultancy services took a huge leap in the arena of IT and Consultation and became highest Job Giver after Indian Railways. One cannot find a single house in India devoid of a Tata product.

(6)	Less than a decade from the millennium, the Tata group was bloated, unevenly managed and excessively bureaucratic behemoth operating in India that had only begun jettisoning the jargon of socialism and the shibboleths of policy making that has promised plenty and delivered little. Ratan Tata changed the group for the better in a more substantial manner than any of the luminaries under whose care the organization evolved since its inception in 1868.
(7)	Ratan Tata, the chairman Emeritus of the Tata Sons was inspired to make Tata Nano after seeing a tragic scene of an Indian Family of four riding on a scooter during rain and falling into a pothole. He wanted to make road travel safe and more affordable for middle class Indians. He rolled out Tata Nano during Auto Expo in January 2008 and started its sales in 2009, it was the cheapest car of the world and soon became a huge hit not only in India but also in Sri Lanka, Netherlands and other European countries.
(8)	The silver haired business tycoon backed the many startups like Ola, Car-Dekho, Snapdeal, Paytm . He famously said that he viewed these investments as a “learning experiences” .He has a stellar track record as a businessman and a philanthropist who donated more than $ 1.2 billion (approximately Rs. 9000 crores) philanthropic causes. He was the true Gem of India and will be revered for the ages to come.

2. Read the following text.	10 Marks

1. The Burgeoning popularity of the reality TV has ushered in a new era of entertainment, capturing the global audience’s fascination with unscripted/scripted drama and real life spectacle. Among these, “Big Boss”, an Indian adaptation of Dutch reality show “Big Brother”, has emerged as cultural phenomenon, offering viewers a gawking glimpse into the lives of its participants. However, beneath the veneer of entertainment. “Big Boss” has been subject of increasing scrutiny for its potential psychological and societal repercussions.
2. Its been few days since celeb inmates have been locked up for a well rated public-view- Big Boss 18. This show got the eyeballs thanks to a queer mix of participants who can bicker at the drop of a hat. But an attempt to get a professional psychoanalyse the 18 “Big Boss” inmates revealed that the reality show is on the hate list of almost entire fraternity. “I would not recommend the show to anyone. Being confined in a house brings out the worst in everyone and the audience seems to be enjoying this”, said a city based psychiatrist.
3. The show has adapted its name and its core concept from the Masterpiece of Geoge Orwell- 1984, where Big Brother is the character and the symbol, an ostensible ruler who kept a constant watch on the inhabitants of Oceania? Are we, the Indian audience so stressed that we have reduced our self to watching negativity of other people’s lives for entertainment or have we lost purpose in our lives?

4. The concept of “Big Boss” seems to be something like what was practised in prisons in the olden days where people were confined to a restricted place and left alone without any activities, which pushed them to be frustrated and hence break down emotionally. Adding that the emotional drama, due to constant negative reaction, gossip, conflicts etc is what makes this show popular.
